

Griffin project achieves LEED Gold Certification

The Ben Massell Dental Clinic in popular Midtown Atlanta was recently awarded Gold Certification status by the US Green Building Council. The clinic built by Griffin Construction is one of the first healthcare facilities in Atlanta to achieve LEED certification. The new clinic features 15 operatory rooms outfitted with the latest in advanced medical equipment, as well as two hygiene rooms, a large laboratory, x-ray room and sterilization area. Among the "green" features are energy efficient windows, automated lighting and HVAC systems, and water reducing mechanical systems. All of the wall and floor coverings are made from recyclable materials sourced from within 50 miles of the clinic to reduce transportation costs.

Design Team: Ted H. Taylor Architects; Gerding Collaborative; Cornerstone Design; Atlanta Dental; Energy Ace, Inc.; Breedlove Land Planning

